Axiometrics Forms Strategic Relationship With Commercial Real Estate Research Firm Chandan Economics

Founder Ron Johnsey also named to Chandan's Industry Advisory Board

(DALLAS, TEXAS - July 18, 2011) – Axiometrics Inc., a provider of data and analysis on the multifamily housing sector, announced today that it has entered into a strategic relationship with Chandan Economics, a commercial real estate research firm headed by preeminent real estate economist Sam Chandan. Chandan Economics is a leader in the analysis of the economy and financial markets and their relationship to commercial real estate. Utilizing the industry's largest and most robust apartment data compilation, Axiometrics will provide performance metrics on the multifamily housing market for Chandan's research. It will also partner with Chandan to deliver high level consulting services for large institutional investors, brokers, developers, and REITs.

Ron Johnsey, founder and president of Axiometrics, was also named to Chandan's Industry Advisory Board. Other members of the Industry Advisory Board include William Hoffman, president and CEO of Trigild Corporation; Jared Kushner, chairman and publisher of the Observer Media Group and principal of Kushner Companies; Kevin Maggiano, president and CEO of Sperry Van Ness International; and Brian Shatz, co-founder and managing principal at Madison Realty Capital.

"Sam Chandan is one of country's premier real estate economists and his firm provides unique insight into the connection between the macroeconomic and investment landscape and the performance of commercial real estate," said Johnsey. "We look forward to informing Chandan's research with the largest and most comprehensive database of U.S. apartment properties, and to partnering with them to provide clients with analysis and consulting critical to their investment decisions."

"Ron Johnsey and Axiometrics are highly respected thought leaders in the multifamily market," said Chandan. "Their research will provide perspective on a vital sector of the commercial real estate market, and Ron's depth and breadth of experience will be an important addition to our Industry Advisory Board."

About Axiometrics

Axiometrics Inc. measures the performance of the apartment sector every month. The company tracks individual properties or portfolios owned by both private and publicly traded apartment REITs (Real Estate Investment Trusts), as well as properties owned and managed by private investors, developers, and management companies in more than 300 markets, totaling over 16,500 properties and 4.4 million units. Axiometrics delivers its data and analysis through a set of affordable, sophisticated tools that enable clients to improve property and investment performance at a fraction of the cost of the additional revenue generated.
